Sportopia Forum

What do you think makes a great sports film?

Andrey: A great sports film always moves quickly.

Dave: In my opinion, the sport just gives the setting. The film is actually about the main character's personal story.

Adam: But in good sports films, the hero always has something stopping him. For instance, in the film Bottom of the 9th, Sonny is a teenage baseball player. One night, he commits a crime and must spend 17 years in prison.

Andrey: The most important scene is the final match. It can't be an easy match because the audience should wonder – is our hero good enough to win?

Frank: But they always do! Sports films never surprise viewers! I'm waiting for a director to make a sports film without a happy ending.

Adam: Another thing, in a good sports film, the hero always competes against a nasty character.

Cindy: I like it when a sports instructor makes a group of teenagers work together.

Frank: Most of all, a sports film needs a great soundtrack.

	T	F
1 According to Adam, the main character has always got a problem.
2 In Bottom of the 9th , Sonny is a teenager when he goes to prison.
3 According to Andrey, the audience should be sure the hero will win.

READING (30 points)1 Read the article. Then tick (✓) the sentences T (true) or F (false). (15 points)*Fashion Crimes

In January 2018, thieves entered the Stanford Shopping Centre in Palo Alto, California, and stole handbags worth $100,000. The thieves probably sold the handbags online for much less money. There are many similar crimes to this one, so you must be careful when shopping online.

Another fashion crime involves copies of designer clothes and accessories. Last year, while I was walking around a market in England, I saw many people buying Gucci bags. The salespeople were selling them at amazing prices. That's because they weren't real.

There are shops with copies of designer clothes all over the world. Police found a lot of these clothes while they were visiting shops in Manchester. According to some shop owners, these copies don't hurt anyone. But while journalist Dana Thomas was travelling around China, she saw young children working in a clothing factory. These children were making imitation accessories and clothing. Like any crime, fashion crimes have got victims, too.

	T	F
1 The thieves sold the handbags from the Stanford Shopping Centre for $100,000.
2 People often sell stolen items online.
3 The Gucci bags in the market were inexpensive because they were stolen.
4 Shops in Manchester sell copies of designer clothes.
5 Young children work in factories in China.

Dr Pascale is my biology teacher. I have been his lunchtime laboratory assistant for two years.

PART 2 – QUESTIONS ABOUT YOURSELFWhat interests you in veterinary work?

I've always dreamed of organising a travelling ambulance for homeless animals in the UK. I also want to learn about exotic animal medicine.

Have you got any experience with animal medicine?

My mother is a vet and I love spending time at her clinic. I can't give the animals medicine, but I can help in other ways. For example, when injured dogs are brought to her, they are often frightened. I help make them feel calm by playing classical music.

Have you got any questions?

Will there be a chance to watch operations on animals? Also, will participants be staying in hotels? I prefer to stay with a local family. Will that be possible?

READING (30 points)1 Read the web page. Then number the sentences below in the correct order. (15 points)*Save the Orangutans

In the past, there were many orangutans in the rainforest in Borneo, Indonesia. However, people have damaged their habitat and many trees have disappeared. Homeless orangutans are captured and people eat their meat. People also sell their babies illegally as pets.

The International Animal Rescue (IAR) team wants to save these endangered animals. In 2013, IAR opened the first rescue centre for orangutans in Borneo. The members of the organisation move the orangutans to protected areas. They also rescue young orangutans.

In the centre, there is a school for young orangutans. They learn to live in the wild there. The school has got four "classes". Baby orangutans, those younger than two years old, are taken to "preschool". There, they can interact with orangutans their age, and they are cared for by the workers. After that, there are three more stages. The orangutans learn to live independently until they are ready to live in the wild.

- a The orangutans are taken to protected areas.
